In 2003, UNESCO adopted a new international convention to safeguard “intangible cultural heritage,” defined as epics, tales, music, rituals, celebrations, craftsmanship, and systems of folk knowledge about medicine, astronomy and the natural world. This intangible cultural heritage is regarded by many scholars and cultural activists as vital to the well-being of traditional communities.

For a performative heritage to have and keep its effect, it must not only admit change but reinvent itself through constant iteration. Thus, there are issues of preservation and documentation as well as interpretation and the degree to which a performance today represents the values of a larger cultural identity, past or present. This workshop explores the non-material, intangible character of heritage by focusing on the human body as a vehicle for memory, movement, and sound. Among the embodied performances considered are dance, the globalization of music among diaspora communities, theater, ritual, lore, and the transmission of oral literature and its changing audiences. The workshop considers the problems (such as authenticity, intellectual property rights, supra-local interference, how to preserve something that is, by its very nature, unstable and dynamic) and possibilities (such as revival and revitalization) of implementation of the new UNESCO convention through case studies drawn from around the world.

Keynote Address

Kathleen Conlin (Previous Dean, College of Fine and Applied Art, UIUC)
“Intangible Heritage, the Performing Arts and the Paradox of Performance”

FRIDAY, MARCH 30, 2007

Afternoon session (2-5 p.m.) – Plym Auditorium, Temple Hoyne Buell

Robert Graves, Dean of the College of Fine and Applied Arts

Welcome

Helaine Silverman
Opening remarks

Landscape and Space

Janet Keller (UIUC)
Geographies of Memory and Identity in Oceania

Chris Fennell (UIUC)
Terrains of African-American Accomplishment at New Philadelphia

Anuradha Mathur (University of Pennsylvania)
Landscape Traverses
Michel Conan (Dumbarton Oaks)
The Intangible Heritage of Gardens and Landscapes: Learning from Hiroshima

SATURDAY, MARCH 31, 2007

Morning session (8:45-12:00) – Krannert Art Museum
Kathleen Harleman, Director of the Krannert Art Museum
Welcome

Stories and Memory
Frank Salomon (University of Wisconsin)
Governance and Conservation of the Rapaz Khipu Heritage (co-authored with Renata Peters, Institute of Archaeology, University College, London)

Raj Gandhi and Usha Gandhi (UIUC)
Partition Memories: The Hidden Healer (India, Pakistan)

Joy Sather-Wagstaff (Kent State):
Intangible Heritage at Oklahoma City and the World Trade Center

Afternoon session (2:00-5:00) – Krannert Art Museum
Performance and Space, Music, Language
Isabel Wong (UIUC)
Kunqu after UNESCO: A Tale of Three Cities

Charles Capwell (UIUC)
Baulgan, a Journey from Religious Folksong to Intangible Heritage of Mankind

Laura Graham (University of Iowa)
Language and Social Justice

Lawrence Cohen (University of Pennsylvania)
Intangible Inka Heritage: Performance and Power in the Pre-Columbian Andes

D. Fairchild Ruggles (UIUC)
Closing remarks